

In preparation for Title II reporting, I wanted to provide a brief update of where we currently stand and what we need to do next.

The State Department of Education recently received official word that the first institutional report will be due nine months from the date that the final Title II data system is published. While the specific date is still unknown, we do know that the original due date of April 7, 2000 is no longer valid.

It would be helpful for each institution to designate a contact person who will communicate with the State Department of Education on this very important legislation. It is preferable that the designated contact is the same person who will be collecting and reporting your institutional data.

We are asking that each institution provide the name, address, telephone number, and email of the Title II contact person by December 7, 1999.

Also, I hope to schedule a date to visit each institution during January and February to discuss the details of Title II reporting. I will be back in touch regarding specific dates shortly after receiving the name of your contact person.

Thank you in advance for your cooperation.
